

First Edition. HEALTHCARE REFORM PROJECT:

By Linda Sutton (PDA) West LA,
Maureen Cruise (PDA), and Minerva L. Williams (Organizing for America), Santa Clarita Valley.

Ladies are members of the Los Angeles County Democratic Party Central Committee and DPSF executive boards and State Democratic Party executive members.

PURPOSE: The purpose of this project is to accumulate information regarding the pros, cons, neutral, and generic information regarding healthcare reform as we know it. This is a work in progress and not meant to be an end all, but will be updated as information is provided. There are so many positions in the middle of the ascribed categories and some will be marked “miscellaneous” if there isn’t a defined category.

Methodology: We will set up categories for the articles positions. Short descriptive will be provided unless it is apparent by the title. Categories however will be added as information accumulates in various positions. Currently the categories are:

Generic healthcare information,
Fighting Insurance Companies,
Fraud/Cautions/Bannings
Historical Review (prior to John Conyers)
Insurance Positions,
International Plans
Kennedy Plan,
Leno, Mark/Sheila Kuehl Plan-OneSource (California)
Massachusetts Plan,
Obama Plan,
Pharmaceutical Plan,
Pro Healthcare Reform;
Pro insurance Option Plan (Obama),
Republican Plan,
Senior Specific Women Specific
Vocabulary

Deadline: The date of the project will work throughout the 2009 healthcare campaign which will hopefully lead to a “single payer” or “insurance option” position. This information will be provided to speakers, to teachers, and members of the Democratic Party who are taking either or no position. When possible the articles will be highlighted for special or prevailing points and will be made available on request, within a 48-hour period.

Ingredients: We do not believe we know how the healthcare project will turnout, hence it is a reference bibliography of events as well. There will be listings of videos, personal testimonies, books, articles, resource guides, and academic and political policy position papers.

Diana Zuckerman, president of the National Research Center for Women and Families, said the products should not be used in children under 6. "No risk is acceptable for products with no benefits," Dr. Zuckerman said. "Families are being ripped off, and children are being harmed."

<http://www.nytimes.com/2009/02/22/nyregion/long-island/22Rfats.html> Another Blow Against Trans Fats in Foods said Jennifer Crum, a nutritionist at New York University's Langone Medical Center. Trans fats in certain margarines and shortenings prolong the shelf life of cookies, cakes and frying oils. Because their chemical composition is altered at the atomic level, trans fats increase LDL, or "bad," cholesterol, and decrease HDL, or "good," cholesterol. Consumption of trans fats can clog arteries.

"The Health of Nations" by Arnold Relman in the March 2005 New Republic. Later expanded into A Second Opinion. Relman lays the blame for the present health care crisis on the advent of a culture of entrepreneurship abetted, ironically, by the creation of Medicare and Medicaid in 1965, which greatly expanded the medical marketplace. Another contributor, Relman says, was the 1975 Supreme Court decision Goldfarb v. Virginia State Bar, which applied antitrust law to the professions, including medicine. The ruling prohibited as anticompetitive medical-society fee recommendations and advertising bans, and promoted instead the notion that market economics would serve medical consumers.

Health Care for America Now! A coalition of labor unions and other liberal groups lobbying for universal health care.

Campaign for an American Solution. The insurance lobby.

Physicians for a National Health Program. The single-payer lobby. Excellent ideas, no influence.

Kaiser Health News. A news agency recently started by a nonprofit cousin of Kaiser Permanente, the pioneering health maintenance organization. (The common ancestor is Henry J. Kaiser.) It claims and has thus far demonstrated independence from any financial interests; the executive editors, Laurie McGinley and Peggy Girshman, are veteran journalists for the Wall Street Journal, National Journal, and National Public Radio, and the scrupulously nonpartisan Len Downie, former executive editor of the Washington Post, chairs the advisory committee. Kaiser Health News has quickly established itself as a comprehensive news source on health care reform.

Wall Street Journal Health Blog. Less focused on health reform, but what's there is usually very good.

Politico Health Care Page. It inclines to hype and it's so-so on analysis, but Politico has stayed on top of breaking developments, frequently scooping the competition, and takes the trouble to provide readers direct access to documents of interest.

Daily Dose. The Washington Post's health reform blog. Less interesting than Ezra Klein's Post blog, which is a little embarrassing because Klein is only one person, whereas Daily Dose has multiple authors But worth reading nonetheless. The best stuff tends to be from Ceci Connolly.

"A System From Hell" by Kate Michelman in the Nation (April 8, 2009). A harrowing first-person narrative by the well-known abortion rights activist about how medical costs brought about her financial ruin. But Congressional investigators found that three big insurers canceled about 20,000 individual policies over a five-year period — allowing them to avoid paying more than $300 million in medical claims. CIGNA used statistically manipulated databases to reduce their payments for services provided by doctors outside their networks. Patients must then pay the often considerable difference.

VOCABULARY:

Earnings per share and the medical-loss ratio OR medical-benefit ratio

As the industry now terms it. That is the ratio between what the company actually pays out in claims and what it has left over to cover sales, marketing, underwriting and other administrative expenses and, of course, profits."

policy rescission," says Potter. "They look carefully to see if a sick policyholder may have omitted a minor illness, a pre-existing condition, when applying for coverage, and then they use that as justification to cancel the policy, even if the enrollee has never missed a premium payment."
