

Kicks off 2008 with an all new show at the Comedy Central Stage at the Hudson in Hollywood!
Guest on a comedy news show,
January 23, Wednesday Evening
8:00 PM.

"No Waiting with Marc Warzecha"

Hosted by Second City alum Marc Warzecha, is a balls-out, politically satirical cross between
"The Daily Show" and "Politically Incorrect".

In the thick of primary season, news is breaking now, and "No Waiting" is ready to respond with live sketch, video, and guests from the worlds of entertainment and politics. I'll be having a one-on-one discussion with the host about the state of the Presidential race, and about Senator Edwards in particular. I don't promise to be funny, but perhaps Marc will be funny while we're talking, and the rest of the show should be good. I was a guest on the show last fall; it's a fun, lighthearted show

Comedy Central Stage
6539 Santa Monica Boulevard
Hollywood, California 90038
FREE!!

Special guests include:

Asa Hopkins - Supporter of John Edwards for President, and host of Drinking Liberally Pasadena

Evan Sayet - Former writer for "Politically Incorrect" and author of the upcoming book, "'Hating what's right: How liberals 'think'"

Andy Cobb - Whose ironic "Democrats for Mitt" video got over 100,000 hits in just two days, featured on CNN's "Situation Room" & Daily Kos.

Steven Vincent - Supporter of Presidential Candidate Ron Paul, and host of "The Ron Paul Freedom Message" radio show.
